Grace and Peace!

Those of us who have been worshipping together these past three weeks are starting to get the hang of pandemic-era worship. We have masks available if you would like one. We sing sort of under our breath. We do our responses the same way. We use only every other pew and we don't sit too closely to each other. If you have not joined us yet, but think it would be safe to do so, I hope you will come this week. If you think it is not safe for you, then please do not feel any obligation to be here.

This Sunday we will talk about rules and rule makers and rule breakers and how we Christians might think about all that. If you are not able to join us yet, maybe you can catch the service at millerpresby.com.

There is news of new cases of COVID-19 in the community, so please know that the elders and I will keep our eyes on the situation.

Blessings,

Brian Jones
